

Portfolio

The Asian Technology Information Program (ATIP) provides customized and standard products and services focusing on Asian technology trends, research, policy, and market strategies. The ATIP site provides an administrative content management system (CMS), online document library with advanced search features, newsletter generator coupled with a mass mailing feature.

Seams to You is a local Albuquerque merchant that specializes in custom made apparel and accessories. An online store was created with a customized CMS including order tracking and inventory. The site also allows the administrative user to track Google

Sibling Rivalry Art is a collection of drawings, paintings, and sculptures by two local artists who happen to be siblings. This is an online store where their art can be purchased. Additionally, there is a weekly art duel where users can cast their vote to settle the score.

Hawaii for Haiti is a site that is committed to raising money for St. Boniface's charity. This site depicts the client's trip to Haiti and highlights the similarities between the two landscapes of Hawaii and Haiti and draws pictures of the Haitian people's plight in the aftermath of the recent hurricane.

FLASH INTERACTIVE DESIGNS

Top Left: An interactive Inventory management system for networking companies. The user can drag and drop different types of items, track information regarding those items, and easily illustrate how different items interact with each other.

Top Right: Automated Flash Graphing. Information is read from a database and displayed real time using flash.

Bottom Left: Flash Interactive Library. Users can select subjects, then view documents, images, and video associated with their selection.

Bottom Right: Interactive Map page. Users can navigate the map, select points of interest and view photos.

